QUIET FOR POLICE DURING LAST MONTH

Only Seven Bold Robberies and Three Bloody Street Brawls.

The contrast between the month just passed and the corresponding month of last year, as viewed from the standpoint of a criminologist is very encouraging. It is enough, in fact, to make the more timorous people draw a long breath of relief. There has been so few thrilling and "blood curdling" things happen in Tulsa this month and so few thrilling tales have come out of police court that it leads to an investigation of what happened last year.

daily blotter and the investigation book at the local police station, there were seven bold robbery cases in Tulsa, three bloody street brawls, four bad check artists, and as many thieves arrested, three house burglaries and two dynamiting anarchists arraigned in police court during the month of April of last year and crime was so flagrant at the time that those captured hardly outnumbered those who left no trace behind them after committing similar offenses.

During the month ending Friday, there were three bad check men arrested and four prisoners captured and held upon charges preferred by officers in other towns. The rest of police court docket has consisted of drunkenness, vagrancy and family quarrels. Records in the office of the justice of the peace show several suicides and violent deaths resulting from fights or intemperance living of some kind, while during the past month there has been one suicide and one unsuccessful attempt. The case of Roland Macelvey, arrested last Friday morning, is the only one sufficiently serious during April that it was turned from municipal court to the county authorities.

AROUND THE STATE

Mr. and Mrs. John Watts, Enid, celebrated fiftieth wedding anniversary Wednesday.

Every day seems to be crime clean-up day in Oklahoma City and Guthrie, according to the newspapers of those two cities.

Bartlesville Enterprise says new directory of that city gives the population 14,230, which proves considerable gain during past year. Congratulations.

Cushing is to have a playground for old as well as young.

For the first time in many months the Bartlesville city prison was tenanted last Wednesday, which caused the Examiner to chronicle the important event that disinfected the place also for the first time in many months.

SPRING IS HERE AND SO IS FEEVER

If You Feel Like You Had

DR. DIP'S GOOD ADVICE

Look Out For Animal Oils.
Beef Fat, Pork Grease and Doughnut Holes.

(By Dr. Dip.)

Just what will you eat the next time you go to the store? Spring, with its invitation whatever of undernourishment, is a good quality and praiseworthy feature, has one pre-eminent disadvantage. The menu card has no attraction at all. All that winter of fatty eaten because we wanted to, but it is because we have to that we drag our inert bodies to the dining room this sort of weather.

What is popularly known as spring fever is almost inevitable in the opinion of a great many people, but it is avoidable, and should be avoided.

Spring fever is unpleasant. It affects everybody, but in a different way. Some people get sick on the first warm day of the year, go to bed and never get up until their favorite physician has bled them with a hot towel, taken their temperature with a lead pencil and recommended some little connection to be taken internally. A large mass of people become indisposed to physical exertion and sit placidly yawning away the most beautiful corner of the year.

Occasionally the more youthful and inexperienced get something wrong with their liver from lack of enough exercise, their blood becomes poisoned, thus affecting their nerves which in turn upsets the brain and the whole system goes wrong. It is a pity that the mistake that they are in love with their usefulness until they have sweated the mistake out of their luncheon with a forced bicycle ride.

Many Remedies.

Without elaborating any further on the effects it will be well to suggest a remedy. There are three remedies, any one of which is perfectly good: (1) Eat less meat and animal oils, (2) Avoid eating fat, and (3) Ditch the grease. By observing these rules carefully, the rest can be worked out, in fact it will all solve itself. It is known to be a good idea to quit eating in large quantities. Taking the starve cure is the best remedy for this old spring fever. Of course it is not a good idea to let one's stomach get the idea that his throat is cut, but keep the digestive organs on a very unsatisfactory pension for a few weeks.

It is hard to drink too much in the
